Seminar Theme

Social movement is a type of group action done by a large informal group of individuals or organizations of a society in a country, state, etc., on a specific political or social issue in order to bring a change. Recently it formed one of the subject matter of Anthropologists, Historians and Sociologists, more particularly the latter distinguished them into several types, i.e., 1. Reform movement, Green movement, Radical movement, Innovative movement, etc. During the late 18th and 19th centuries, there were movements of specific social groups, i.e., the working class, peasants, whites, aristocrats, protestants and men who usually aimed at some materialistic goals like improving the standard of living, etc. and from 20th century witnessed movements like the feminist movement, pro-choice movement, civil rights movement, environmental movement, free software movement, gay rights movement, peace movement, anti-nuclear movement, alter-globalization movement, etc. There have been many studies on social movements in India during the last four decades and social historians recently produced stimulating studies on social movements in general and other movements in particular. A definite concept of 'social movement' is a deliberate collective endeavor to promote direction by means of excluding violence, illegality, revolution or withdrawal, etc., and hence clearly symbolize a difference from historical movements, tendencies or trends, etc. Hence, a social mobility and change brought by 'social movement' based on challenge, protest, confrontation, aggression and revolt as opposed to acquiescence, request, obedience, loyalty, etc. and more recently these are classified into several categories on the basis of participants, i.e., peasants, tribals, students, women, dalits, etc. In many cases the participants and issues go together in order to synthesize the objectives and aims of the present seminar topic with a view to get full and satisfied information which is historically embedded within the society in and around the present Rayalaseema Region of Andhra Pradesh as a whole and at a regional level or micro-level in particular.

Sub-Themes

1. Peasant movements.
2. Tribal movements.
3. Dalit movements.
4. Backward caste movements.
5. Women movements.
6. Working class movements.
7. Students' movements.
8. Middle class movements.
9. Human rights movements.
10. Environmental movements and
11. Recent movements.

A Brief Report on

The ICHR Two day National Seminar on "Perspectives of Social Movements in Rayalaseema Region of Andhra Pradesh"

The Department of History, NTR Govt. Degree College, Valmikipuram conducted a Two – day National Seminar on 6th and 7th March, 2018 under the aegis of ICHR, New Delhi.

The theme of the seminar is Perspective of Social Movements in Rayalaseema Region of Andhra Pradesh and the sub themes include.

1. Peasant movements
2. Tribal movements
3. Dalit movements
4. Backward caste movements
5. Women movements
6. Working class movements
7. Students movements
8. Middle class movements
9. Human rights movements
10. Environmental movements
11. Recent movements

The aim of the present seminar topic is to get full and satisfied information which is historically embedded within the society in and around the present Rayalaseema region of Andhra Pradesh as a whole and at a regional level or micro – level in particular.

Around 70 delegates from different universities of Andhra Pradesh participated in the seminar and 38 of them presented papers in 4 academic sessions.

The inaugural session of the seminar was chaired by Dr. M. Joseph. D. Rao, Principal of the college and Prof. D. Kirankanth Chowary, Professor Emeritus of S.V. University, Tirupati was the special invitee. Dr. K. Srinivasulu, Reader in History, Sharma College, Ongole, Prakasham Dist. A.P. delivered the keynote address. The guests of honour, Dr. B. Prasad Reddy, General Secretary, A.P. History Congress and Dr. P.C. Venkatasubbaiah, Associate Professor, Dept of Archaeology and Culture, Dravidian University, Kuppam, A.P. also addressed the gathering.

In the afternoon session 19 delegates presented papers on various sub themes of the seminar. On the 2nd day of the seminar, the programme was chaired by the Dr. M. Joseph. D. Rao, Principal(FAC). Dr. V. Sudharshan, Associate Professor of History, V.S.M. College, Ramachandrapuram, A.P. was the special invitee.

EXPECTED OUTCOME:

Since the present seminar has been proposed to get the relevant scholars come together in order to view their subject matter regarding the knowledge of social movements that occurred in the concerned area. As this would be a common platform for scholars to share their ideas and throw the record of events which would be published in dimension from different disciplines, as an important outcome of expression by the scholars in view of social, cultural, economic and political factors that emerged out of the then existing Andhra society in the Rayalaseema region in different angles of the above themes. This would help the young generation to take up further research in the area in future.

Objectives and Aims:

The present National Seminar has been proposed to treat agitations, protests, strikes, etc., as 'movements' or, to be precise, as part of social movement of a particular stratum or strata of Andhra society as a whole, especially in the Rayalaseema region. As we know that the present Andhra society that exists now (excluding the post-bifurcated Telangana) has a vast historical background right from the annals of historical significance since 600 BC., till Modern times and it possesses all characteristic features of Indian society with social strata(hierarchical forward castes, backward classes, scheduled castes and scheduled tribes, etc) with different socio-economic and cultural features. The present Andhra Pradesh, after bifurcation, comprised the geographical area namely Rayalaseema consists of districts of Anantapur, Kadapa, Kurnool, and Chittoor which lies in the south-western part of the state comprised different natural resources, drainage system, forests, weather conditions, food habits, behavior, way of life, etc., but people speak a common language and other common important socio-cultural aspects. However, the changes that occurred in the Andhra society might have been the results of protests against the functions of past system through the governments or public by the inspiration of other areas of our country as a whole and at a regional level or micro-level.
